

What's New!

for the week of August 10, 2009

We have a website! Thanks to Craig Bass, Web Developer for doing a great job in a very timely fashion. I will try to update the site weekly so you will need to check back frequently to see what is happening with us. I will let you know when something has been posted then you will need to go to the website to get the info. This applies to the newsletter as well.

We will be assembling the "bathroom bags" for Camp Evergreen on Thursday, August 13th at the Community Health Education Center, 2200 N Eldorado Ave., beginning at 9 am. Please enter through the door facing Eldorado Heights Assisted Living Center.

I will be pulling the blankets for Camp Evergreen on Friday, August 14th beginning at 10 am. If you would like to help with this, please let me know. You can use the "Contact Us" from the drop down menu to do this. As Scrappy Binding: Save the leftover strips from your quilt bindings and join them together until you have enough to bind another quilt. Using them on a Project Linus Quilt enhances the fun "kid-friendly" look of the finished project.
